The condominium corporation confirms that if any payments have been applied back to the unit owner's prior arrears that:

1. any cheques applied back did not specify which months any payment was to be applied to; and,
2. that the Pre-authorized Payment form, if any, for this unit(s) does not specify that payment being withdrawn from the unit owner's account must be applied to any specific month, nor does it specify that NSF payments are deemed to be an insufficiency for that particular month.

If an account ledger is provided for the above unit(s), the information on this Lien Instruction Form shall prevail.

N.B.: Our Office will NOT contact you to request further instructions to register a Certificate of Lien. It is up to the Client/Manager to forward this Instruction Form to our office at the appropriate time. Should the condominium corporation wish to cancel a Notice of Lien and/or lien that has been commenced, due to the condominium corporation's error, or due to the condominium corporation accepting payment on account of common expenses and/or special assessment due under the Notice of Lien/lien, the condominium corporation shall be responsible for all legal costs incurred.

1. Fine & Deo is authorized to proceed with any further legal action which you deem necessary to collect arrears of common expenses, interest thereon and your legal costs. You are instructed and authorized to take such action and commence such proceedings as you deem necessary or advisable.
2. You are authorized to execute and register, electronically or manually, a certificate of lien, or any deed or other documentation relating to the lien and/or Power of Sale proceedings that may take place, on our behalf.
3. Your fees for services rendered, where required, are as follows, exclusive of disbursements and applicable taxes:
 1. Notice of Lien - $350.00;
 2. Certificate of Lien - $600.00;
 3. Statement of Claim - $975.00;
